FIFTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

For the Year 1912

New York, June 1, 1913.

IN the report of the President contained in the Year Book for 1912 is the following statement:

"Whenever the work undertaken and accomplished by the Association is understood and appreciated by the commercial and industrial interests of New York, a membership will be assured which will make The Merchants' Association the fitting representative of this metropolitan city, ready and competent to fulfill its basic purpose 'To foster the trade and welfare of New York.'"

The appreciation of our work thus referred to has been attained, and our aspirations for increased membership, and an income adequate to support our enlarged activities, have been realized. During the past year an intensive membership campaign was conducted, as recorded elsewhere, which within a few weeks more than doubled the membership, which brought the activities and usefulness of The Merchants' Association effectively to the notice of all our citizens, and which aroused their interest and enthusiasm in a manner and to a degree which gives assurance that henceforth The Merchants' Association of New York, if properly responsive to its splendid opportunities, will stand as the leading, largest, most influential and most representative of the civic organizations of this city identified with its commercial and industrial interests.

During the past year all of our proposed new activities have effectively been organized, including the Traffic Bureau, the Publicity Bureau; the Industrial Bureau, and the Convention Bureau, each in charge of a competent manager provided with the necessary assistants. The new Research Bureau, under Mr. F. B. De Berard as director, will continue and further develop the valuable work which has so long and so ably been conducted by him as the Statistician of the Association. A Foreign Trade Bureau is in process of development under the able leadership of the Committee on Foreign Trade, which latter is, for the present, conducting some of the work which the proposed bureau will ultimately undertake. For more than a year past "Greater New York," the official publication of the Association, has been issued weekly, and its pages have been filled with matter pertinent to our work, and of great and increasing interest to our members.

Finally, the headquarters of the Association were transferred, about May 1st, 1913, to the new location in the Woolworth Building, where ample facilities are now afforded for the many activities which the work of the Association includes.

While our members, both old and new, are to be congratulated on these developments, and on the splendid progress which they imply, it is proper to remind them at this time that the continued success of our work, and the full fruition of our ambitions, are dependent upon the continued and active interest and support of the membership that it is the members who constitute the Association that, while their annual dues suffice to meet its expenses and are indispensable to the support of its work, the ultimate success of its work will depend upon the personal interest and co-operation of the individual members and that, in the final analysis, the future of the Association rests with the members themselves, and depends upon the extent to which they are willing to devote their time and efforts to supporting and conducting its many and useful activities. It is the confident belief and expectation of those who have been most active in bringing the Association and its work up to the present point that there lies before it a future of great and increasing usefulness to this community, and an assured position as the leading and most representative civic body devoted to the commercial and industrial interests of this great city.

HENRY R. TOWNE, President.

SUMMARY OF PRINCIPAL ACTIVITIES OF THE MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION, 1912

New York, May 1, 1913.

Henry R. Towne, President,

SIR:—

THE following summary presents a review of the most important work of The Merchants' Association during the year 1912, and in part during the earlier months of the current year.

Increase of Membership.

THE year 1912 marks a notable enlargement in the influence and strength of the Association, by reason of a great expansion in its membership. This expansion was the result of the conviction, reached by its Board of Directors, that adequate protection of the business interests of this City demanded united effort and co-operation upon the part of its business men and the addition of important new commercial machinery.

A study of the commercial organizations of other leading American cities was made, and it was found that the benefits of general organization of business interests were much more fully appreciated in those cities than in New York, both Chicago and Boston having business associations whose membership exceeded 4,000, as against about 1,500 members of the Merchants' Association, the largest organization of this city. It was decided therefore to organize a systematic campaign for enlarging the membership of the Association, and a careful study of the subject was made and carefully devised plans arranged for effecting the purpose intended.

The work of organization was begun in the summer of 1912. The first step was to arrange for fifty committees, each having about five members and together representing practically every business interest of the city. To these committees was to be delegated the work of obtaining new members.

A series of luncheon meetings were held during the summer and fall, to each of which were invited from thirty to fifty guests, representative of selected business interests. The proposed plan of campaign was explained at each of these gatherings and volunteers to serve upon the committees were obtained. In November all of the prospective committeemen, and a number of others, were entertained at dinner at the Hotel Astor, and the final arrangements for an intensive membership campaign were then completed.

The city was divided into sections; for each of these sections lists of business houses eligible to membership were prepared and each section placed in charge of a committee. During the last week in November the entire body of committeemen, over 250 in number, gathered at the office of the Association on the morning of each of four days, and devoted the time from ten to twelve o'clock to personal calls upon the list of eligibles assigned to each committee. At noon the various committees met for luncheon and reported results. Great enthusiasm and rivalry were engendered, and as a result of the four days campaign, with some later supplemental work, over 1,800 new members were added, thereby raising the total membership to over 3,300 firms, corporations and individuals.

The result of this highly successful work has been to give the Association unrivaled strength and influence as an organization standing for the protection and development of New York's business interests.

Organization of New Bureaus.

THE especial object sought in this increase of membership, was to so increase the Association's revenue as to permit the establishment of a number of bureaus equipped to deal adequately with very practical business questions relating to the protection and development of this city's economic prosperity.

The first of these to be established was the Publicity Bureau, in order that through its operations the members of the Association and the public might be properly informed of the current work and the aims of the Association. Shortly thereafter the Traffic Bureau was organized, to deal with the important railroad and transportation questions constantly arising and having far reaching effect upon this city's business. Near the close of the year the Industrial Bureau was established, and shortly thereafter organization of the Convention Bureau was completed.

The work assigned to each of these bureaus is explained somewhat in detail in the following paragraphs:

The Industrial Bureau.

THE Industrial Bureau of The Merchants' Association of New York came into existence when the manager, E. E. Pratt, was appointed and took up his duties on November 18, 1912.

The task confronting the Bureau, namely, the industrial development of New York City, is a large one, and up to the end of the year little more was done than to formulate plans and lay down general principles for the guidance of the industrial work.

Owing to the resignation of Mr. W. W. Freeman, it became necessary to re-organize the Industrial Committee. Mr. Morgenthau was appointed chairman and took hold of his duties with enthusiasm. The other members of the committee are Mr. F. H. Bethell, Mr. John F. Calderwood, Mr. Clair Foster, Mr. John F. Galvin, Mr. Frank Hedley, Mr. W. H. Milnor and Mr. C. G. M. Thomas.

The Industrial Committee drew up and presented to the Board of Directors a complete plan of work for the Industrial Bureau. This report, which was approved by the Board of Directors, is as follows:

"After consultation and discussion the Industrial Committee of The Merchants' Association recommends the following procedure for the Industrial Bureau:

"We believe that the following general principles should guide The Merchants' Association in this work. The statement of these general principles indicates the general lines along which we intend to work.

(A) The Merchants' Association should encourage only carefully considered attempts to bring new industries into New York. Only such industries as are clearly fitted for the locality should be sought by us. We believe that the location of industries worth having is determined by economic factors and not by mere solicitation.

(B) We intend to lend a helping hand to the solution of the problem of furnishing adequate industrial facilities in New York City, thereby removing some of the handicaps now resting on New York as compared with other cities.

(C) While The Merchants' Association is primarily interested in municipal New York, we feel that the work of the Industrial Bureau cannot be confined strictly to that district. The purpose of The Merchants' Association should be to develop the entire territory which is tributary to New York. We deem it wise to steer such enterprises as cannot be secured for Greater New York to Jersey City, Newark, etc., rather than have them locate in Cleveland, Detroit, or some other distant city.

(D) We are against the policy of giving artificial advantages to new concerns. We do not approve of bonuses, free sites, remission of taxes, investment in securities, indorsement of commercial paper or other similar methods.

(E) We believe that The Merchants' Association through the Industrial Bureau should make a thorough study of the whole problem of the location of industrial plants so that it will eventually become known as an authority on the subject. The standards of the Bureau must be set so high that the Bureau will be considered an unprejudiced and impartial expert. This, we believe, will place us in an impregnable and desirable position.

"With these general principles as guides in the work, we recommend to the Association three related, but, in a sense, distinct lines of work for the Industrial Bureau:—

1. A definite and vigorous campaign for new industries which will include circularizing, publicity, advertising and personal visits.
2. A continued effort to improve the industrial and transportation facilities of New York.
3. An Information Bureau on all industrial questions.

"We do not believe that this work can be undertaken by the Association, except in a limited way, until we get together a considerable volume of information which is not now in existence nor now available. We propose first to make a thorough and scientific survey of New York City. We propose to study the New York situation for each important industry and for each section of the city.

"This is not a small undertaking, as will be seen from the following summary:

1. The collection, collation and filing for ready reference of all statistical information relating to New York. This information will be arranged industry by industry, borough by borough.
2. A number of maps of New York will be secured showing: (a) Values of New York real estate (b) Available manufacturing sites; (c) New Improvements planned and under way in various sections; (d) Transportation facilities; (e) Location of factories industry by industry; (f) Location of the labor supply in each industry; (g) Terminal and transportation capacities.
3. The Industrial Survey proper, which will be made industry by industry, borough by borough, will include the following: (a) Reasons for location of existing concerns and the advantages and disadvantages which they find at these locations; (b) Amount of goods shipped to different sections of the United States and abroad; (c) Amount of goods arriving in New York City and from what sections of the country; (d) The amount of rail and water transportation; (e) Character and location of the labor supply.

An industry will not be selected on account of its bulk, but because it presents certain problems which need study and which may call for remedies.

Industries present certain problems in the solution of which we may assist.

4. This information is to reach the public in various ways: (a) Through Greater New York, the official organ of The Merchants' Association; (b) Through publications which we will issue concerning each industry; (c) Through the trade papers and the regular trade channels; (d) Through circulars and letters written to the trade in various parts of the country; (e) Through speeches and addresses at meetings of the trade.

"It is our intention to take up successively these various lines of activity in order to provide a thoroughly sound and scientific basis for our industrial promotion work.

"It is impossible to estimate accurately at the present time exactly what it will cost to conduct the Bureau during the first year. In addition to the Manager, who has already been engaged, we shall need a secretary who shall be a skilled stenographer and who will be able to take charge of all the office routine; two expert investigators, who will take up the work of the Industrial Survey and will be put on investigations of special industries. We shall also need additional stenographic and special service from time to time, such as draughting in the preparation of maps, various materials and equipment, special reference books, press clipping service, maps, printing, stationery, etc. An amount will also be required for traveling expenses in collecting information concerning various industries and studying what other business organizations have done in attracting industries."

Before the end of the year the manager of the Bureau was already actively engaged in carrying out this program and had begun an industrial survey of New York City. This survey aims to find out what the industrial conditions in New York City really are; to compare these conditions with conditions in other cities. The survey aims to find out what advantages New York City has to offer manufacturers and what disadvantages manufacturers already in the city are laboring under. It may be possible to preserve and enhance the former or to lessen or mitigate the latter.

The subjects which are to be comprehended in the survey are: Market advantages, labor supply, transportation and terminal facilities, land values, cost of power, fuel and light; accessibility of raw materials, and a host of less important factors.

The problem in New York City is a very large one, as each borough forms in fact a city in itself. Conditions in the various boroughs will be studied separately. Each industry will also be individually investigated. The work of the survey has only begun.

The Traffic Bureau.

THE Traffic Bureau began operations May 1, 1912, with J. C. Lincoln (a railroad traffic official of long experience) as manager, and W. H. Chandler as assistant manager.

Its work is under the general supervision of the Transportation Committee, comprised of Wm. A. Marble, chairman; Benjamin L. Fairchild, J. H. Fennessy, Fairfax S. Landstreet, Waldo H. Marshall and Daniel P. Morse.

The principal function of the Traffic Bureau is to guard the business interests of New York against unjust rates, discriminations, and the giving of preferential rates to competing communities. In this work it advises members with relation to carriers' rules, regulations and rates; claims involving legal points or technical construction of tariffs; classifications, and other transportation problems. The value of the Bureau to members is evidenced by the growing volume of requests for expert assistance in solving numerous vexed transportation problems.

Among the many important subjects with which the Bureau has dealt are the following:

Regulation of dimensions of baggage; Rates for excess baggage; Provisions of Bills of Lading; Improved methods in the preparation and presentation of claims, and the adjustment of claims; Car shortage; Classifications, with the rules and ratings contained therein; Demurrage and car service charges; Express rates, rules and regulations; Incomplete form of freight bills and notices; Packing and marking; Proceedings before Interstate Commerce Commission in relation to rates to Iowa points, to Spokane, to Colorado—Utah points, to New Mexico points, and to Trans-Continental points; Minimum charge; Parcels post; Rules regulating weighing and handling of freight, and legislation relating to the Interstate Commerce Law.

The Publicity Bureau.

THE Publicity Bureau was established on January 12, 1912, upon the general plan worked out by the Publicity Committee. Robert H. Fuller was engaged as the manager of the Bureau.

During the first few weeks, the work of the Bureau was devoted to making known, chiefly through the newspapers, the plans adopted for extending the activities of the Association. Meanwhile preparation was made for the publication of "Greater New York," the weekly paper issued by the Association, the first number of which appeared on March 4.

The chief purpose of "Greater New York" is to keep the members of the Association informed of what the Association is doing. It is published each Monday, excepting during the midsummer weeks, and is sent free of charge to about 6,000 individuals, firms and corporations, including all members of the Association. It takes the place of the "Bulletin," which formerly was issued each month, and it varies in size from eight to twenty-four pages.

In addition to the information made public through "Greater New York," advance copies of which are sent to all the newspapers in the city, the Publicity Bureau prepares and gives to the press at frequent intervals statements regarding various phases of the work of the Association in which it seems desirable to arouse public interest.

The Bureau took an active part in the campaign for new members, which was generously supported by the influential newspapers of the city.

From time to time the Bureau prepares special articles descriptive of the Association and its work and a considerable number of these are published in the Sunday newspapers and the trade papers.

The Bureau has kept in constant touch with the activities of the Association on the one hand, and with the newspaper offices on the other hand to the end that necessary information might reach the public in the most effective manner.

The Convention Bureau.

THE Convention Bureau, recently organized, is under the management of John R. Young, subject to the advisory supervision of the Convention Committee whose members are: Albert Plaut, Chairman; Frank Hedley, Wm. C. Muschenheim, Mason B. Starring, Harry P. Stimson.

The primary object of the Convention Bureau is to bring desirable visitors to New York. Its activities are comprised chiefly in efforts to induce organizations to hold their meetings here, to further and increase the number of trade exhibitions, to demonstrate local attractions and facilities, and to blazon forth New York as the ideal summer and winter resort.

Upon the completeness and accuracy of its information files is based the successful operation of this Bureau. It endeavors to keep on hand comprehensive data on organizations of every character, including trade associations, fraternal orders, religious societies and every type of body holding meetings of a dozen or more members at stated intervals. With this information as a basis it conducts a systematic campaign through the media of correspondence and personal interviews.

Whenever it is sought to induce an organization to convene in New York, the co-operation and assistance of local members is invoked. When a member of the organization, whose meeting is sought, also is a member of the Merchants' Association of New York, he invariably is asked to lend his aid.

Because of its never ceasing contact with all lines of business and organized effort in every direction, and its persistent effort to gain full information relative thereto, it is enabled to be of service to the other departments of the Association.

The work of the Convention Bureau is conducted upon scientific lines. Definite plans for its activities cover not only current effort but also extend far into the future, campaigning for conventions and meetings to be held here as long as four years hence.

To increase the number and scope of conventions in this city directly benefits many lines of business, and ultimately is to the advantage of every branch of New York commerce. Convention visitors spend an average of somewhat in excess of ten dollars per day during their stay in New York. This money goes into the coffers of the hotels, restaurants, retail shops, and the like and there are further and most important advantages to be derived from the new accounts and business connections made by these visitors.

The Convention Bureau not only works incessantly to bring new conventions to Greater New York, but it also endeavors to induce those now meeting here to repeat their visits at regular intervals. It offers its service in advance arrangements, including meeting halls, hotel accommodations, entertainment, speakers, and publicity. Its files contain adequate information on hotels, halls, amusements and other desiderata for conventions.

Reorganization of Express Service and Rates.

THE campaign begun by the Association and actively carried on for more than two years culminated, during the summer of 1912, in an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission reducing express rates by an average of more than 20 per cent. The Commission granted the express companies about three months in which to show cause why the order should not go into effect, and later extended the time to permit the effect of the reduction upon the revenues of the express companies to be more definitely ascertained.

The Association also showed to the Commission that the reduction on small parcels was not as much as the conditions seemed to warrant.

While it is possible that some modifications may be made in the Commission's order, it is confidently anticipated that it will be in the main sustained and become effective shortly. Very important and general changes have been ordered in the methods of the companies and have already become effective. Among these are the requirements for labels showing whether parcels are "prepaid" or "collect" and the pasting of waybills upon the parcels in order to prevent the double collection of charges, hitherto so frequent. The delays incident to round-about routing have also been prevented, by requiring the transmission of parcels by the most direct route if any other route involves delay in delivery. Classifications have been simplified, objectionable features removed from the form of receipt, and other desirable rules adopted relative to free delivery limits.

The general result of the proceeding has been a complete overhauling by the express companies of their methods, and the creation of a most commendable desire on the part of their officials to meet the public fairly and establish friendly relations with shippers.

New Post Office.

THE Association has earnestly advocated the removal of the post-office from City Hall Park and the erection of a new post-office on a suitable site either adjacent to the present site upon the south, or upon the proposed new civic center to the north of the new Municipal building. A bill for this purpose was presented by Senator O'Gorman and actively supported by the Association.

Panama Canal Tolls.

THE Association advocated the exemption of American coastwise shipping from any tolls for passage through the Panama Canal, believing that such exemption would not be in violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, which declares that the ships of all nations shall be permitted use of the canal on equal terms in order to avoid discrimination. The exemption of American coastwise ships does not transgress this provision, for the reason that there is no competition between American coastwise ships and foreign ships or those destined to foreign ports, inasmuch as only American ships, under existing law, can take part in the coastwise trade, and the terms upon which such coastwise trade is carried on can in no wise compete with or interfere with shipments destined for foreign ports.

The Association also advocated that provision of the Panama Canal Act which forbids the use of the canal by railroad-owned steamships, in order that the unfair methods of competition, hitherto invariably resorted to in the case of steamship lines controlled by railroads, for the purpose of breaking down free competition, may be prevented.

Harbor Improvements.

THE Association vigorously protested to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment against the holdup of the pressingly necessary enlargement of the dock facilities in this city, plans for such improvements having been put aside pending the completion of the new subway plans. It also protested against the possible diversion for subway purposes of the $70,000,000 made available by the releasing of dock bonds from the debt limit, contending that the whole or major portion of that fund should be at once applied to dock improvements.

Shortly after the Association's vigorous statement of its attitude in this matter, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment took up anew the plans for dock enlargement. It first proposed an agreement with the Bush Terminal Company, under which the city should purchase the piers of that company and contract with it for the operation of a marginal freight railway. This proposition the Association opposed and caused its defeat. The plans proposed by the Dock Commissioner for the improvement of the Brooklyn waterfront by means of a marginal freight railway extending from Brooklyn Bridge to Bay Ridge were then taken up, and were supported by the Association. These plans have since been adopted and the construction will soon be proceeded with. This is the first and one of the most important steps in modernizing the city's terminal facilities.

During the year the Association has been active in the matter of West Side terminal improvements, strongly advocating the construction of a waterfront elevated terminal freight railway from 60th Street to the Battery, either as an extension of the New York Central system, or upon the plans proposed by the Dock Commissioner. It has further advocated the removal, in large degree, from the waterfront of the floating railroad terminals which now monopolize much of that waterfront between the Battery and 23rd Street, on the ground that that waterfront is required for the needs of marine commerce and that inland railroad freight terminals should be substituted for those now occupying the waterfront.

The Subway Situation.

IN order to permit the construction of the dual subway systems, enabling legislation of great importance was necessary. The Wagner bill for this purpose was pending before the Legislature of 1912, and considerable opposition was made thereto by the interests which favored the old Tri-Borough plan and municipal operation. The Association vigorously supported the Wagner bill (which later became law) and the dual system. It was likewise active in urging the prompt completion of the plans made possible by the Wagner bill and the active prosecution of the work of construction.

Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

THE Association has long been an earnest advocate of the substantial modification of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, which, in its present form, is so sweeping as to threaten not only unlawful combinations but also legitimate and necessary business methods formerly embodied in business practice and upon which the business structure of the country in large degree rests. The Association prepared and filed with the President and Congress an important memorial proposing practicable and reasonable modifications of the Sherman Act.

Various Activities.

AMONG other subjects of activity on the part of the Association was support of legislation in relation to false statements for obtaining credit, the question of liability under bills of lading, and concealed loss and damage claims.

It joined with other business organizations in prosecuting before the Interstate Commerce Commission a proceeding to abolish the freight differentials against New York. This proceeding involved great and protracted labor, the marshalling of an immense amount of data and great expense. It was successful in part, but not to the full degree desired.

The Association also joined with other associations in resisting before the Interstate Commerce Commission an order of the railroads unduly restricting the size of trunks and applying excess baggage charges to those exceeding specified limits. This proceeding likewise involved much labor and great expense in preparation. It is still pending and in the meantime the operation of the railroad ruling has been suspended.

The Association successfully opposed the two platoon firemen's bill and the Sullivan-Brooks tax bill, which sought to impose upon land a rate of taxation much higher than imposed upon improvements. The Association's Committee showed clearly the inequity and the harmful economic effects arising from such a system of taxation.

The Association during the year co-operated heartily with the Fire Commissioner in promoting the work of fire prevention, aiding him in securing an adequate appropriation with which to carry on the work. Through its Committee on Fire Prevention, it secured for the property owners whose premises abut upon routes of new subways, relief from the cost of constructing temporary partition walls for fire protection during subway construction, such walls having been required by the Insurance Exchange. The cost of this work properly belongs to the subway contractors and was finally assumed by them through the influence of the Association.

The Association took an active part in opposition to various ill advised legislation, and through its Committee on City Conditions moved vigorously for the enforcement of city ordinances, many of which are generally violated. The committee, at the suggestion of Mayor Gaynor, prepared a digest of these ordinances for the use of the Police Department, of which 20,000 copies have been printed. It is also holding a series of conferences with various public officials to discuss the subject with them, and to develop methods of effective co-operation with them by the Association.

Other Subjects.

DURING the fall of 1912 the Fifth International Congress of Chambers of Commerce, representing many of the most important commercial cities throughout the world, was held in Boston. After the session some two hundred and fifty of the delegates made an extensive tour throughout the United States, visiting and being entertained by a number of the principal cities. Their tour terminated at New York, and as a compliment to the distinguished visitors the Merchants' Association, in co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce and a number of other business and civic organizations, acted as host and provided various entertainments for the visiting guests.

Early in 1912 a disastrous flood in the Mississippi Valley deprived a considerable number of people of their homes and subjected them to much suffering. The Merchants' Association, following its long established record in such cases, raised and contributed to the fund for the relief of these sufferers over $10,000.

More recently the much more extensive flood and tornado disasters in Ohio and in the neighborhood of Omaha called for a larger measure of relief. The Association promptly created a relief committee, in response to whose appeal over $71,000 was raised by the Association and forwarded for the relief of the sufferers.

THE Board of Directors, May 16, 1907, adopted the following preambles and resolutions:

WHEREAS, It is of prime importance that all utterances and publications made in the name or behalf of The Merchants' Association of New York should be co-ordinated with each other, and in harmony with the general policy of the Association as established and authorized by its Board of Directors; and

WHEREAS, To this end it is essential that every important utterance or publication by any of the standing or special committees, made through its chairman or otherwise, should, if circumstances permit, be reviewed and approved, prior to its publication, by the Board of Directors, or, between the sessions of the latter, by the Executive Committee; therefore

RESOLVED, That the following rules, recommended by the Executive Committee, are hereby approved and adopted by the Board of Directors, viz.:

RULES FOR GUIDANCE OF CHAIRMEN OF COMMITTEES.

1. The attention of the chairman of each committee shall be called to the preambles preceding these rules.
2. The chairman of each committee is expected, before issuing any letter or statement for publication, to submit same in draft to the Secretary of the Association, who thereupon will arrange to have it promptly revised either by the Board or the Executive Committee, either in meeting or by submission to the individual members, according to the urgency of the matter.
3. That while the Board and the Executive Committee, so far as consistent with their own responsibilities, will give the fullest discretion and latitude to committees and their chairman, and will endorse and support them in all proper ways, the latter will be expected to reciprocate by recognizing the importance of unity in the policy and work of the Association, of co-ordination of the work of its numerous committees, and of deliberation and a due sense of responsibility in all statements and publications issued over the name, and, therefore, presumably having the sanction and endorsement of The Merchants' Association.

SUMMER MEETINGS OF DIRECTORS

THE following preambles and resolutions were adopted by the Board of Directors
October 17, 1907:

WHEREAS, During the summer months of July, August and September, a large proportion of the Board of Directors of The Merchants' Association of New York are absent from the City; and

WHEREAS, During that period the main work of the Association is in relation to the reduced rates for its non-resident members, which is largely a matter of detail work for the office staff; therefore, be it

RESOLVED, By the Board of Directors of The Merchants' Association of New York that meetings of the Board be dispensed with during the months of July, August and September, unless in the judgment of the President or the Executive Committee a special meeting is desirable for the consideration of specially urgent subjects.
